

HOLE 17

Breaking hearts both physically and mentally as the climb up the green starts at 150m mark, and uphill to reclaim the 50m lost at the start of the round. But we also have to deal with out of bounds on the right...so right handers fear the big slice, the lefties the big hook. Strange how the mind subconsciously takes control and you find your drive piling into the trees on the left...2nd shot and club selection to deal with distance, the rise and the prevailing wind is critical. Good luck. As for the green there are plenty of tricky pins to add to the heart break. A par here is a win.
